

Friday, 12th January 2018

Strong media response

The latest edition of the LONGINES CSI BASEL has received a lot of attention from various media. Never before have the organising committee welcomed as many journalists to their event as this year. Close to 100 journalists from radio stations, television channels, photo agencies and print media have been accredited as of Friday evening, which means a 25% increase compared to the previous year. The journalists come from 10 different countries.

The well-written contributions document the sporting events as well as different background stories.